

RIVER PARK PROGRESS

"It seems to me that the natural world is the greatest source of excitement; the greatest source of visual beauty; the greatest source of intellectual interest. It is the greatest source of so much in life that makes life worth living."
 Sir David Attenborough

So much of what I do focuses on constructing residential or commercial buildings. While balancing functionality and aesthetic is a key part of the design process, it's not something that everyone can appreciate in the final product.

This is why the River Park project at StarCity has been such a refreshing break from my day to day norm.

With the River Park, our ambition is to hero the natural world, using construction techniques only to make it more accessible for the residents to enjoy.

Where possible, all materials for the River Park are sourced locally; the majority of the grass, flowers, plants and trees are grown in the StarCity nursery or relocated from elsewhere on the estate, the riverside mangroves are original freed from the weeds by which they are usually obscured, the bamboo is all recycled and the timber local. We are fortunate that Myanmar offers such a wealth of sustainable, durable and beautiful materials to choose from.

The River Park will be an exciting place for kids to play while others take in the visual beauty of the flowers or do sunrise yoga with a view of the river. And for those looking for a sense of calm, the sensory Zen Garden will offer somewhere to reflect and recharge. The River Park will bring the residents of Star City a space to explore and unwind in the beauty of the nature that surrounds the estate.

The River Park looks forward to welcoming its first visitors later in 2020, and the Star City community should look out for an invite to the social and cultural Grand Opening after the monsoon season!

JETTY GROUND BREAKING CEREMONY MARKS THE CONSTRUCTION COMMENCEMENT

Yoma as a developer has always been dedicated to give our residents a well rounded living within all our Estates. With this dedication, TED management has been working tirelessly to provide the best transportation connectivity with StarCity and the rest of the city.

A Jetty in StarCity with regular intervals of water buses connecting to town has always been in the planning. The management is excited to announce this planning has made progress and construction of the Jetty have started. As seen in the picture, the project team conducted a traditional ground breaking and blessing ceremony on the 4th of June, 2020 for the commencement of construction. This is indeed an Exciting journeys ahead for residents and visitors alike.

Urban mobility is essential in creating spatially inclusive and successful urban developments, allowing people to access jobs, services and city resources. Connectivity and accessibility are key components of sustainable living. We at Yoma is determine to make connectivity an essential part of our developments.

YOMA LAND

CONNECTING YANGON'S COMMUNITIES

Yangon is a rapidly developing city which provides extraordinary opportunities for investment in real estate and the development of products to suit differing community needs. Yoma Land's current portfolio reinforces the diverse offer of real estate in Yangon, with predominately landed housing in the 264 hectare Pun Hlaing Golf Estate (population 2,000) Hlaing Thar Yar, a range of homes in StarCity (population 4,000) a 198 hectare mixed use development at Thanlyin and a fully integrated mixed-use 220,000 sqm development at Yoma Central, currently under construction in the heart of downtown Yangon.

JICA's Strategic Urban Development Plan 2018 outlines Yangon's Future Vision as an "Attractive International Port & Logistics Hub – A City of Blue, Green and Gold".

Yangon's population is growing fast and as urbanisation takes hold, so do problems with inadequate infrastructure provisions such as water, wastewater, power supply and solid waste disposal.

Yangon's transportation system is under increasing pressure. The Comprehensive Study of the Urban Transport Development Program in Greater Yangon (YUTRA Update 2019) identifies possible project costs of around 35bn USD for upgrading Yangon's integrated transportation system by 2035.

Urban mobility is essential in creating spatially inclusive and successful urban developments, allowing people to access jobs, services and city resources. Connectivity and accessibility are key components of sustainable living.

Yoma Land supports residents' healthy lifestyles by providing plenty of open spaces & community facilities, and by encouraging resilient transportation choices for example making it safer for residents to walk and cycle by providing effective traffic calming measures in all its developments.

Good accessibility to public transport is key, and Yoma Land's locations link directly to numerous YBS bus routes, seamlessly connecting the entire city. StarCity is currently designing a Transport Hub for the estate, which proposes to bring YBS services to within walking distance of its residents. StarCity also operates a popular daily shuttle bus connecting to downtown Yangon; Pun Hlaing is planning to introduce a similar service.

Rail travel provides a great journey option. StarCity is currently connected to the rail network at Aung Thu Kha Station, and new suburban commuter lines are proposed to pass near Pun Hlaing & StarCity in the future providing access not just to bustling downtown's Yangon Central Railway Station, but also to nearby employment hubs of Hlaing Thar Yar and Thilawa respectively.

Whilst the private vehicle should be the last choice in journey options for sustainability reasons, Yoma Land assets have robust road connections, which are constantly being improved by government initiatives such as new bridge construction or road layout and intersection upgrading, helping to reduce congestion and journey time.

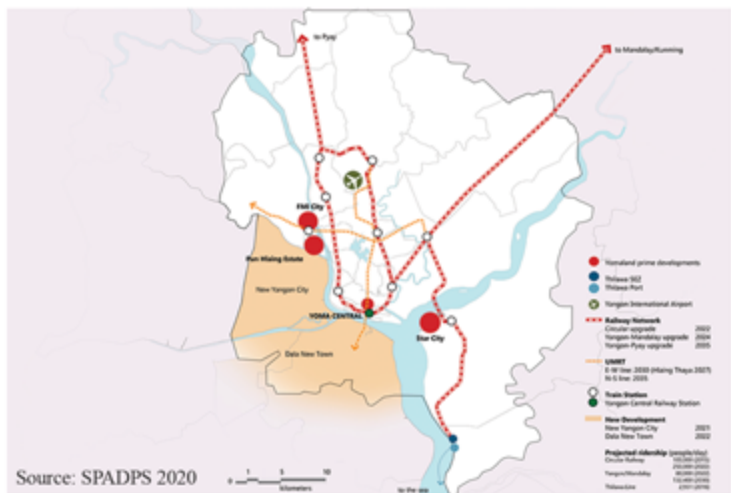

Car parking and security is provided at all Yoma Land locations.

For those without a car but in search of self-drive options, Yoma Fleet Car Share provides a convenient service, with pick up and drop off points at many locations around the city.

Yoma Land is constantly exploring new transportation options. One such initiative is water transportation, which will connect StarCity & Pun Hlaing via Pansodan & Kyee Myin Daing to increase connectivity by reducing door to door travel time via a reliable, convenient and desirable mode. Exciting journeys ahead for residents and visitors alike.
